Message from Dr. Christel Broady:

I am super excited to announce the first webinar in a regular series of free TESOL/ESL events for anyone interested. And, to kick the series off in style, this event offers a unique opportunity to meet the current TESOL president Suzanne Panferov for a personal interview and Q&A with Christel Broady, the director of the ESL Endorsement Program at Georgetown College. Suzanne will join us for the meeting from Tuscon, AZ.

Background:

It is the goal of the series to facilitate the creation of a community of practice among ESL professionals and interested mainstream teachers in order to strengthen the field of ESL instruction in schools. In addition, many teachers lack funding to attend the TESOL conventions and state meetings. Therefore, the webinars will bring TESOL to them. International, national, and local ESL leaders will be invited to share their knowledge with webinar participants. In addition, teachers like yourselves will be invited to share best practice and strategies that work.

In order to join us for the webinar, please remember the following:

1. Register for the webinar ASAP to secure your space (if you will not be able to attend after all, there will be no harm done)
2. Find a quiet workspace
3. You may use a PC or Mac
4. Assure continuous internet connection because this is a streaming event
5. Attach a headset with microphone or make sure that your computer is fitted with speakers and mic
6. Make sure to turn your volume up
7. If you want to speak, make sure to have no background noise

I hope that you will find time to join me and many of our ESL colleagues for this exciting event and to welcome our TESOL president who makes time in her busy schedule to be with us!

Dr. Christel Broady
